Aesthetics Research Lab

FOCUS LAB 03

Core Question: How can leaders perceive, interpret, and cultivate the conditions in which an organization flourishes?

Purpose:

Explore leadership as an aesthetic practice requiring attention, interpretation, and judgment to cultivate conditions in which people and organizations flourish.

Outcomes:

Participants will

- Notice signs of tension, vitality, disengagement, curiosity, and trust that may go unrecognized by conventional measures.
- Distinguish between noticing, interpreting, and judging, recognizing that perception alone is not enough for responsible leadership.
- Examine how qualities such as attention, integrity, care, courage, and restraint shape the conditions in which people and organizations flourish.
